

THE GREYHOUND

PUBLISHED BI-WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. IX

BALTIMORE, MD., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER, 26 1935

No. 5

GORDON HENZE AND HIS ORCHESTRA TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR ANNUAL SOPHOMORE FROLIQUE DEC. 6

TAX IS $1.65 PER COUPLE

Centrally Located Merchants' Club To Be The Scene Of Semi-formal Affair

The Sophomore Frolique, which will be held on December 6 at the Merchants' Club, will feature the distinctive rhythms of Gordon Henze and his orchestra, who regularly play in the Ivory Room of the Hotel Rennert. The dance will be semi-formal.

Merchants' Club

The Merchants' Club, located on East Redwood St., between Calvert and South Streets, is the rendezvous of many of the socially prominent business men of Baltimore. The spacious lounge on the first floor is decorated in a masculine manner, reflecting the old English style, with its open fire-place and coats of arms on the walls. The ballroom is trimmed in dark brown oak. These facilities of the Club, together with the services of an efficient attendant personnel, will be at the disposal of the Sophomores and their guests.

Having completed the ar-

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

BISMARCKIAN DIPLOMACY TOPIC OF HISTORY ACADEMY LECTURE

W. J. O'DONNELL IS SPEAKER

The second lecture in the '35-'36 series of the John Gilmary Shea Academy of History was delivered last Wednesday, Nov. 19, by Mr. William J. O'Donnell, '37. His subject was: "The Bismarckian System of Diplomacy, (1870-1890)."

Mr. O'Donnell stressed the fact that the Bismarckian Diplomacy was a complicated system of alliances, and an entente by which Germany's chancellor held Europe in his fingers from 1870 to 1890. He said: "The keynote of the Bismarckian system came to be the formation of alliances by Germany, dedicated to the support of conservatism, to the maintenance of the status quo to the guarantee of the peace of Europe, while in reality the purpose of each alliance was to bring about the effective removal of another power from the possibility of an alliance with France."

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 3, at which Mr. Francis X.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Bellarmino Open Forum

The Bellarmine Debating Society on November 13 held an open forum meeting on the question: "Resolved that the students of Loyola College should make a solemn promise never to bear arms in a future war". Samuel Powers, '39, for the affirmative, and Daniel Loden, '39, for the negative, gave the introductory speeches and then the members of the society took up the discussion.

DR. HUGH S. TAYLOR ADDRESSES CHEMISTS' CLUB ON CATALYSTS

SPOKE HERE LAST YEAR

Speaker Is Director Of The Research Lab At Princeton

On Thursday, November 14, Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, D.Sc., director of the research laboratory at Princeton University, addressed the Loyola Chemists' Club on "Catalysis at Reaction Surfaces."

Spoke Last Year

Dr. Taylor, who, incidentally, spoke to the same group last year on heavy water and heavy hydrogen, sketched the historical development of catalysis at surfaces, and the subsequent influence of such development on the commercial and economical destinies of different nations.

The subject of catalysis is from 130 to 140 years old. During this period the chemists first realized that they could cause reactions to take place by introducing a foreign substance. In 1806, Sir Humphry Davy, whose assistant at the time was Michael Faraday, performed an interesting experiment before the members of the Royal Institute in London. Davy introduced a hot platinum wire into a stream of gas and the wire became hotter and hotter until it ignited the gas. This experiment showed the importance of a catalyst.

The process of catalysis was the first to play any profound part in influencing the commercial destiny of a nation. Catalysis became very important in the dyestuff industry, and India was the first to feel the effect of the catalyst when all the indigo used in dyestuffs began to be made synthetically.

The next important development by Bosch was the

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

LOYOLA ALUMNI RETREAT TO BE HELD DECEMBER 6, 7, 8

TO BE GIVEN AT MANRESA

Rev. Robert S. Lloyd, S.J. Will Be Retreat-Master At Annual Exercises

At a meeting held at the Emerson Hotel on Friday, November 8th, it was decided to hold the Loyola Alumni Retreat, December 6th, 7th, and 8th, at the retreat house at Manresa-on-the-Severn. The retreat-master is to be the Rev. Robert S. Lloyd, S.J. More than forty members of the alumni are expected to attend. Father Lloyd, former head of Georgetown Prep, succeeded as retreat-master the Rev. Eugene DeL. McDonnell, S.J., ex '85, who died recently.

Retreat Movement

Since the Jesuits have done so much to promote the retreat movement, surely it is Loyola men who should show a keen interest in their retreat. The alumni who were unable to attend their parish retreats are urged to be present at the alumni retreat which will be the last of the current season to be conducted at Manresa.

At the meeting held on No-

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 2)

CALENDAR

Nov. 26—Sodality Benediction, 11:50.
Play Contest at Le Clerc, Notre Dame, 8:15.
Mendel Club Lecture, 2:30.

Nov. 27—Bellarmino Debate, 2:30.

Nov. 28.—Thanksgiving Day. Holiday.

Dec. 2—Soph-Frosh Football Game.

Dec. 3—Sodality Meeting, 12:10.

Chem Club. Illustrated lecture on "General and Industrial Chemistry of Titanium" by Dr. Wm. M. Thornton, Jr., 2:30.

Dec. 4—Bellarmino Debate, 2:30.

Dec. 6—Soph Frolique. Merchants' Club.

Dec. 10—Sodality Benediction, 11:50.

C.S.M.C. Monthly Meeting, 4 P.M., at Mt. St. Joseph's.

Basketball: Alumni vs. Varsity, 9 P. M.

Dec. 11—Bellarmino Debate, 2:30.

Dec. 13—Basketball: Loyola vs. Md. State Teachers. At Home.

LOYOLA THESPIANS TO PARTICIPATE IN ONE ACT PLAY TOURNAMENT WITH NOTRE DAME OF MARYLAND

Kelly S. I. A. C. HEAD

Arthur Kelly, senior basketball manager, was elected President of the Student Intramural Athletic Council over Edward Gromacki by a student vote of 46 to 25.

It is expected that a meeting of the Council will be called as soon as the various classes elect their three representatives in order to outline a winter sports program for the intramurals.

ALBERT J. HENRY JR. '39, DIES AT SAINT JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

BURIED FROM ST. PAUL'S

Freshmen Attend Benediction And Mass In Chapel For Repose Of His Soul

Albert J. Henry, Jr., Freshman B.S. student, died suddenly on Thursday evening, November 14, as the result of complications brought on by an operation for appendicitis. Albert had attended class on Monday, November 11, and that night was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where he died. Rev. W. Paul Smith, pastor, celebrated a Solemn Requiem Mass for the repose of his soul on Monday, November 18 at St. Paul's Church.

Attend Funeral

The funeral was attended by the Rev. Thomas I. O'Malley, S.J., Dean of Loyola, Rev. Richard B. Schmitt, S.J., Loyola Chemistry Professor. The representatives of the Freshman Class were the Messrs. Thomas Mullen, Charles Broderick, Bernard O'Neill, Oram J. Tillman and Edgar Steinacker. Mr. Edward McClure, of Sophomore, acted as pall-bearer.

Among others present were the Rev. William J. Lanigan, S.J., Mr. William F. Maloney, S.J., and Mr. William H. Powell, S.J., former teachers of Albert when he was a student at Loyola High School.

Practically the entire Freshmen Class recited the rosary at his home on the Friday evening after his death.

Debate Cancelled

Albert was scheduled for a debate before the Freshman Class last Thursday. As a tribute to his memory, the debating class was cancelled, and the Freshmen attended Benediction and a recitation of the Rosary in the Chapel.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

DANCE TO FOLLOW

"The Sweeps Of '98" To Be Presented At Le Clerc Hall At 8:15 P. M.

A band of Loyola thespians will journey tonight to Le Clerc Hall at Notre Dame of Maryland College to engage in a unique competition with our neighbors up the street. Loyola has been invited to participate in a one act play tournament, sponsored by the Notre Dame dramatic group, Ye Merrie Masquers Association, with the girls of Notre Dame presenting one play and the boys of Loyola another before the faculties and student bodies of the respective schools.

Dance Afterward

In the invitation to Loyola received by Frank Muth, Senior Class President, from Miss Kitty Kernan, Notre Dame's Senior Class President, it was also announced that there will be an informal dance in the gymnasium following the performances.

Loyola's play, which incidentally marks our first attempt at dramatic production

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

SODALITY MEETINGS TO FOLLOW THE ORDER OF FORMER YEARS

SHORT PAPER TO BE READ

At a meeting of the Loyola College Sodality held on Tuesday, November 19, it was decided that the same order as last year would be followed, that is, that regular meetings and Little Benediction at 11:50 would be held on alternate Tuesdays. It was decided that at the business meetings, five minute papers would be read, which would deal with world happenings of the week, and in what way they pertained to the Church. Joseph Mack, '37, Vice-Prefect of the Sodality, volunteered to write and deliver a paper on the purposes of the Sodality and its justification as a student activity.

Appeal Made

An appeal was made to the members for old clothing for the poor, and for other articles for the St. Vincent De Paul Society, and the members were also asked to express their opinions on whether the Loyola Sodality should have an official pin.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

THE GREYHOUND

LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. IX Baltimore, Maryland No. 5

Editor-in-Chief

EUGENE F. JENDREK, '36

Managing Editor

LAWRENCE T. MULLEN, '37

Sports Editor

ANDREW E. CICHELLI, '36

Circulation Manager

CHARLES C. CONLON, JR., '38

Advertising Manager

JOSEPH J. MACK, '37

Associate Editors

JOHN J. DINAN, '36

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL, '37

Departments

WILLIAM D. MCGONIGLE, '37

WILLIAM E. WHITE, '37

ROBERT B. MAGUIRE, '36

News Staff

F. KENNARD DILL, '36

F. HOWARD KIDD, JR., '37

JOHN DOLLE, '36

CHARLES O. FISHER, '38

JOSEPH B. AARON, '38

EDWIN A. GEHRING, '38

DANIEL J. LODEN, '39

WILLIAM I. DOYLE, '39

JOSEPH B. KELLY, '39

JOHN D. WHITE, '39

Published Bi-Weekly

Subscription $2.00

For Baltimore

Today moored at the training station dock at Newport, Rhode Island, surrounded by present day warships, floats the oldest ship in the Navy, the Constellation. Built by David Stoddert at his shipyard on Harris Creek, or what is now the foot of Luzerne Street, Baltimore, the Constellation was launched September 7, 1797, more than a month before the Constitution, "Old Ironsides", to whom in design the Constellation is very similar. After serving in our informal naval war with France, the War of 1812, the war with the Barbary pirates, as flagship of several of our foreign squadrons and in the Civil War, the Constellation was made the station ship at Newport about 1874 due to her age and the advent of the iron-clads.

As one looks back on her long, hard years of service he begins to apprehend that New Englanders were not the only ones who could build ships and this opinion is strengthened when we realize that the Constellation is the only one of the original six frigates of the Navy in active service. Of the others: the Constitution is now a relic, rebuilt by an appropriation of Congress and by the pennies of school children all over the country, many of whom have never even seen the ocean; the United States was burned in Norfolk Navy Yard to prevent it from falling into the hands of the Confederates in 1861; the Chesapeake and the President were captured by the British in the War of 1812; and the Congress was broken up in the Portsmouth Navy Yard at Norfolk in 1836. Today, the Constellation is a venerable old lady of the seas, spending her last days in a northern port. How fitting it would be to have this ship returned to her home port, the birthplace of our National Anthem and the only large city in the newborn United States which did not fall into the hands of a foreign enemy.

The people of Baltimore feel that the Constellation is peculiarly their ship and that she belongs here. To this end we should interest ourselves in the campaign of petition which has been begun by local civic and patriotic organizations to have the Constellation replaced as the station ship at Newport and returned to Baltimore, where, placed under the ramparts of Fort McHenry, our citizens may have these two, the shrine and the ship, as constant reminders of the struggle of an infant republic for freedom and respect on the high seas.

We have been informed that printed letters of petition to President Roosevelt will be distributed within a few days to the students for signature. Loyola men can thus participate in this campaign which merits the support of every Baltimorean.

Trouble Avoided

Last year when the Maryland teachers' oath bill was up for signature before Governor Nice, the Greyhound commented editorially that its passage as a law would cause trouble, and that it would be almost useless. With the actual enactment of a similar law in Massachusetts, the Holy Cross Purple asserts that the bill "brought up many issues, but none more prominently than the futurity of using the sacredness of an oath as a check to those who are threatening the fabric of our national society. The aim of the bill was very laudable, but the method selected was feeble and futile". And so it would have been in Maryland.

Campus Clippings

W. W.

To those old Funsters and Gag Specialists

Leary and Sheene

We know this column's never funny,

Being devoid of humor as we are of money,

But before you put us on the fry,

Kindly remember that at least we try.

* * *

The best gag in this issue is in Cichelli's column. It is concerned with Indoor Sports, and you can draw your own conclusions.

* * *

Gromacki, the Parlor Pest, says that you can always have a "large" time with small talk.

* * *

Father Ayd:—Barranger, how would you stop a deaf and dumb couple from arguing at night?

Barranger:—Turn the lights out!

* * *

Fritz Holtzner, who uses Simoniz and Johnson's Floor Wax for shoe polish in rainy weather, says:—

Two in One's no fun,
Wax wisely.

* * *

Niemoeller is sleeping quietly in the Physics lecture room. It is so still you can hear a milligram drop. Mr. Reardon begins, "The first mass is one hundred and fifty grams, the second mass two hundred grams, and the last mass is what, Niemoeller?" Fritz awakes with a start and shouts, "at eleven o'clock, Mister."

* * *

Nertsery Rhymes:—
College boys hold these things dear,
Seagrams, Fleischmann's, and good beer.

* * *

Full many a gem of purest ray serene,
The gold digger's fingers bear,

She got them when "daddy" passed out of the scene,

The last time he went on a tear.

* * *

This was told to us by the Editor as an actual happening. It seems that a friend of Gene's introduced him to a slightly tipsy young man with these words:

"This is so-and-so, the Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound. You've heard of the Greyhound, of course?"

"Oh, yes," replied the inebriate, "I've traveled on some of their buses."

Ye Editor is already well known to us as the slave-driver of the Greyhound bus-t.

Evergreen Reflections

R. B. M.

Thanksgiving Fantasy

Thanksgiving day usually last about a week. That is to say, on the Thursday after the last Thursday in November you get turkey soup; that is if you started with turkey. If you started with lamb chops, Thanksgiving day lasts about twenty minutes, and you get the usual corned beef and cabbage on the following Thursday. This may seem unfair but I dunno. When you stop to think (I always stop to think. When my brain case is jiggling around I get the darndest ideas) when you stop to think, I say, about the number of people who get indigestion from eating turkey and fixins (especially fixins. They will always get you in the end. I knew a man . . .) it's appalling. Personally I never get indigestion, so if you really want me to, I'll come around and eat your Thanksgiving dinner. Look at all the bicarb you'll save.

When you come right down to it; it was only a small circumstance that started our custom of eating a huge dinner on Thanksgiving. Were it not for that circumstance we might only go to church on Thanksgiving. What was that circumstance, you ask? Bless your kind young heart. I know you really don't care what it was, but your interest does this old heart good. You're a fine lad, Zeke, even if your ears do flop over. Well, it happened this way: You recall that picture showing the Pilgrim fathers at a great feast. Under the picture it says: "The First Thanksgiving". This is a misnomer. Yes it is, too. Don't argue with me or I'll fan your little breeches. I know the photographer that took that picture. In fact I was his boss. I sent him up to Plymouth to get a picture of the First Thanksgiving Services. He stopped over at Poughkeepsie Landing for a night and got to Plymouth fifteen minutes after the services were over.

So instead of getting an immortal picture of the Pilgrim Fathers in church he got a beautiful hand-tinted photograph of the breakfast they had afterward, the same photo which you see reproduced in the paper every Thanksgiving Day.

* * *

Reply To A Radical :- An Open Letter

My dear Senator Wright:

I consider your letter of November 12, 1935 in very bad taste. In allowing your sense of the grotesque to carry you to such lengths, you have called into question the honor of this correspondent. Such bitterly ironic phrases as "We do not have such factions in the Senior Class at Loyola" and "May I express an honest and sincere opinion" make my blood boil with nervous indigestion. Take heed, Senator Wright, do not trifle with me! If we had not changed the code duello for the N.R.A. codes, I would most certainly challenge you. Sling shots at arms length! Ah! that a man's game. Remember Goliath, remember the Alamo, remember the Maine, that is my motto. But since the day is past when a man could avenge his honor on the field, I will not call you out. If, however, you are a gentleman, you will oblige me by racing me around the track three times, last one in to be a sissy.

Sincerely,

The Reflector

* * *

This and That

It looks as though the estimable Cichelli has opened his mouth only to find his foot in it. This often happens to columnists. Who should know better than I?

While not strictly a college activity, the daily practice of Bell's Bar-Flies has attracted a good deal of attention on the part of the students. The Bar-Flies, in case you hadn't noticed, are a paper-weight football team, complete with jerseys, etc. It will be an interesting game when and if they meet Bracken's Keswick Road Snobs.

Some one has suggested, by the way, that since our own bells are on the blink we could make good use of the Original Bells of Loyola: Chick, Dick and small Bell.

Speaking of putting one's foot in one's mouth: Chicklet is not the only recent victim. Your correspondent has had coals of fire heaped upon his head by the announcement that Notre Dame is going to give us a dance after all. True, it is not a tea dance, and the Seniors are not the sole guests, but after my tirade last week, I haven't the heart to slap the other profer-red cheek.

I had an invitation (unofficial, I fear), to appear in to-night's play, but declined with thanks. If I neglected my

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

GREYHOUND OPEN FORUM

To the Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound:

Dear Sir:

In our opinion, the Greyhound is a paper of which every Loyola student can justly be ashamed. For the past few years at least, it has been thoroughly and consistently rotten. During that time it has apparently operated on a planned economy of news and humor. These latter are sandwiched between a few ads smeared over six pages and dumped upon a hapless student body with bill attached. Almost invariably the news items are dull and unlitery. Nine times out of ten they are not even reliable.

The cradle humor of White and others of his class is the last word in absurdity. Cichelli, the "Bantam Rooster" of the Greyhound, and the rest of the hobby horse experts who make up the sports staff, couldn't cover a garbage can by their combined efforts, and the religious articles put one in mind of a nightmare.

The Greyhound is manifest bunk. It is a disgrace to the College, an imposition upon the students, and an indication of mental derangement on the part of its editorial staff. It is the greatest farce ever foisted upon a student body.

Mr. Editor, we have an ample supply of waste paper on hand, without your publication. It is of no value whatever.

We suggest that you close up your paper outright. If this step is not taken, we hesitate to say what might happen. There is a limit to human endurance. In this case we believe the limit is near at hand...

Tom Leary
Bill Sheene

We are grateful and feel it an honor to publish this brilliant literary masterpiece because it is the first time in our knowledge that the writers have even condescended to notice our "manifest bunk", let alone deigned to allow us to print one of their intellectual creations. With such members of the literati and the cognoscentes at Loyola never even essaying journalism or trying to make the stuff, it is of little wonder that the Greyhound is "of no value whatever."

If the writers of the above endearing missive are sincere, we would like to ask them on top of all this destructive criticism, if they, (in view of the necessary limitations imposed upon the present staff by their apparent inabilities at humor and news-gathering) could put forward ONE, HELPFUL, PRACTICAL, WORKABLE, CONSTRUCTIVE suggestion to keep the Greyhound from that fate about which students "hesitate to say what may happen," fear that "there is a limit to human endurance", and "believe that the limit is near at hand".

The only crumb of satisfaction we can gain is caused by the question raised in our minds as to why students of such perspicacious propensities have read the Greyhound "for the past few years" when "it has been thoroughly and consistently rotten" and "not even reliable".

To the Editor of the Greyhound:
Dear Sir:

In your recent issue, the editor of the column known as "Chick's Chat" must have taken it upon himself to be an authority on the ability and qualifications of the candidates for the basketball team even before these same candidates have been able to show what they do know or what they do not know.

It may be a good idea to suggest to your columnist that the school hire a coach just for the explicit purpose of showing the boys their faults and to help them to correct these faults.

Consequently I feel as though the sports editor should be reprimanded and in the future be more conservative in his "would be" criticisms.

A Student

To the Editor of the Greyhound:
Dear Editor:

It has suddenly occurred to a few choice spirits about the college that there is a yawning need (if a need can rightly be said to yawn) here at Loyola. In the earliest days of our education we became accustomed to a practice that finally became the very sinew of the school. I speak of that ever useful and engrossing maneuver, "fire drill". It was a weekly affair and after a few months such proficiency was attained that upwards of 800 kiddies could be removed in the amazing time of 1:52.5, without a shin bruised or a hair mussed.

Much to our disappointment we discovered that the higher brackets of education frowned upon, nay eschewed, the precautionary measure we have always considered essential. As the year passed I felt this need more and more until now I am constrained to speak. I cannot enter class without feeling some misgiving. Furthermore, I find myself narrowly watching my classmates, trying to detect a firebug among them. Such suspicion is despicable of me, I know, but I find that I can't help myself under the circumstances. For the peace of mind of a number of us, Mr. Editor, please give this matter your attention.

Very truly yours,
Blazes, Jr.

To the Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound
Dear Sir:

As you probably know there are millions of dollars and thousands of lives lost every year through the agency of that demon "FIRE". I think you are cognizant of the fact and fully aware of the imminent danger that is threatening us at all times. The property that is lost may be replaced, but the lives cannot be, and it is my sincere opinion that something ought to be done to safeguard the lives of the inestimable students of Loyola.

May I offer as a remedy the suggestion that we institute a weekly "fire drill". All right, laugh if you will, but have you ever had the odor of burning human flesh assail your nostrils. I haven't, but I think it would be terrible.

I have many reasons to offer, but I am quite sure they are unnecessary. Besides, this period is almost over and my time is up.

But I am confident, Mr. Editor, that you will not procrastinate in advocating my suggestion in your column, and thus earn the undying gratitude of the countless Loyola students that are to follow us.

Junior Fire-bug

P.S. May I offer as a suggestion for the time of the fire drill the second period on Monday?

Here and There

Said one silly senior to another: "I think I'll go in town to the opticians and buy me some new illusions."—The Heights.

* * *

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB TO AIR TONSILS TUESDAY

Headline, St. John's Collegian.

* * *

Why some dames drive football players crazy:—

"Why do you have to wear those funny hats?"

"Do you boys wear girdles?"

"I think wingbacks are the cutest things."

"Thanks for the autograph, but I thought football players couldn't write."

—The Quadrangle—Manhattan College.

* * *

With apologies and thanks to the Santa Clara:—

Lochte was a chemist,

But Lochte is no more,

For what he thought was H2O Was H2 (SO4)!!!

To the Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound:

Dear Sir:

Not many years ago, a fire broke out in one of Chicago's most famous theatres. Into this theatre had gathered hundreds of people, mostly children. When that terrible shout of "FIRE" was heard, a panic ensued which all the policemen in Chicago would have been helpless to check.

But there is no need to bore you with these horrible details. Death struck the city of Chicago with its flaming sword.

What happened there can happen anywhere. If a fire should break out in Loyola's science building, which (to quote an authority) is not fire-proof, the conflagration, which the igniting of the chemicals would cause would quickly entrap all the diligent students who were engaged in the pursuit of science.

Mr. Editor, unless we are trained to combat and escape fire, we cannot expect to escape the panic which the word "FIRE" instills into the brain of the uninitiated. The only solution which I can think of, is a weekly fire-drill. So I confidently trust, Mr. Editor, that your love of Loyola's beautiful buildings, and your love of the friendship which you have formed here at college will make you desirous of avoiding any catastrophe to the aforementioned buildings and students.

Your fire-chief,
Ed. Wynn

It looks like somebody at school has been making it too hot for the boys. We almost burn up ourselves when we get letters like the one at the head of this column. In our opinion there is enough of a fire drill every day at 11:50 when the lunch bell rings; still, if student opinion demands a fire drill, who are we to dash cold water on their fears of the combustions of incendiaries. Do you think enough students are hot enough under the collar to require a running out in the open everyday to cool off?

PIECES OF EIGHT

(Extracts taken from the Greyhound of November 19, 1927).

The Campus Clipper tattles on those students who bring their own lunches to school and use the school's mustard, and also on the two Sophs working behind the lunch counter who also bring their own lunches, and the writer observes that maybe they know their politics or are just careful... John R. Spellissy, '27, patient at Bon Secours Hospital... Announcement of Mendel Club Lecture "Moths, Butterflies and their Larvae" by Fr. John Brosnan, S.J.... Seniors planning to give first dance of the year on December 9. In the Gym, of course... Edward O'Brien '28 voted president of C.S.M.C.... Extension course inaugurated at Loyola, with classes held after the regular school hours and on Saturdays... Headline: Greyhound Gridders Out For Navy's Goat... Editorials on Armistice Day and Barbara Fritchie... Sympathies of the Faculty and student body extended to the family of Mrs. George C. Jenkins, who was a member of the family to which belonged the author of our national anthem... Poem by H. A. M., '29 describing how Ireland was created by a fairy dream floating on the wings of morn and resting on the breast of the surging sea... Wanted: A Live Wire Alumni Editor. One who has all the inside dope and a woman's capacity for keeping it secret... McMains, of Western Maryland, described as the Nemesis of Loyola, apropos of the 6—0 score, with the Terrors as the victors... Picture of "Lank" Tanton, with the caption: "Doing himself proud"... Article telling of the enthusiasm shown by Loyola students over the coming Notre Dame A. A. Dance, and also telling us that the Juniors and Seniors have vivid recollections of a delightful Tea Dance given within recent years... A box marked "Paid Personals" recounting the tale of the student found in the Chemistry Lab trying to find a solvent for pie crust (Wonder where the pie came from??)... Crew neck sweaters still selling for the ridiculously low price as advertised in the last issue... Freshies looking forward to Frosh-Soph 'adjustment tilt'... Ad telling us to run right to a pharmacy at Charles and Preston (What! And get back in time for Philosophy?)... James ("Happy") Enright '28, chosen president of Senior-Junior Debating Society... Mr. Charles Berger, S.J., Moderator of Mendel Club, outlining its purpose at first meeting... Boxes on front page: Fight Navy... Plans afoot to reorganize Dramatic Club... Economics Class unable to understand how the General Baking company can lose money when they have so much dough...

EVERGREEN REFLECTIONS

(Continued from Page 2, Col. 5)

column in order to appear behind the footlights, how would you feel? Don't answer that question!

The Sad Life of A Columnist

The life of a columnist is not a bed of roses. It's not a bed at all, it's the life of a columnist. Which brings me right back to where I started. (Ed. Note: Get funny, or get out). (My note: I'm not asking for charity, all I want is a chance). I know this isn't funny, fellows, but tragedy is close akin to comedy, and boy, do I feel tragic right now. Think of it: only a few more months, maybe even less, and my school days will be over. Gosh, do I feel bad. I'm going to miss the dear old cafeteria with its broken bottles and scattered paper. And Kingo, dear old Kingo, the sole survivor of Liston's original Listless Wonders. And the great intramural system here. And the splendid concert grand in the cafe. I'm going to miss the reading of marks in the Library and the course in astronomy. In fact, fellows, can you blame me if I feel badly? After all, it's not often a man gets a chance to miss things like that, and I'm going to make the most of it. (Ed. note again: It's pretty awful when columnists get sober and sobbing).

SAFE DEPOSIT & TRUST CO., OF BALTIMORE

13 SOUTH STREET

Estates Managed and Settled

GEORGE C. CUTLER
President

Alumni Doings

W. D. McG.

Contrary to the usual situation, we have been literally overwhelmed by news. From all sides we hear encouraging reports of Alumni activity. It does our heart good to see this enthusiasm and good spirit. Judging from the action taken so far by the leaders we predict that the results will be without precedent in Alumni history.

Executive Meeting

Recently the first meeting of the executive committee was held. The first step it made was to appoint a Students' Aid committee headed by Mr. Isaac George, '01. This committee will secure records of graduate employment for the last five years and based on this report the committee will devise an employment exchange.

Mr. Wilfred McQuade, '27, was elected to communicate with the National Catholic Alumni Association to work out a program of joint action.

New Officers

By the way, the new officers of the Executive Committee are:—Dr. Edward A. Doehler, '30, Secretary; Thomas Grogan, '27, Financial Secretary; Robert Slingluff, '29, Treasurer.

Luncheon Club

Plans for the establishment of an Alumni Luncheon Club also were made at this meeting. Frank C. Horigan, '25, was appointed Chairman of the Club Committee. The first luncheon of the club was held at the Emerson Hotel on Friday, November 8th. The number present was encouraging, and the members expect to hold a meeting of the Luncheon Club every month. Plans for the Alumni Retreat, a story on which will be found elsewhere in this issue, were discussed.

Committees Formed

According to present plans, ample entertainment for the alumni during the coming season will be furnished by the Entertainment Committee under the direction of Albert Sehlstedt, '19, acting as Chairman.

It seems that all we have today is committees and more committees. So, just to change the monotony, here's another one. It was formed by the alumni as a means of cooperation between the alumni and the Greyhound. It is headed by Charles C. Conlon, Sr., '06; The other members of this group are:—Bernard M. McDermott, '27, and Robert L. Slingluff, '29.

New Directory

There seems to be no end to the activity of our friend, Mr. Slingluff. He has been doing quite a lot of work lately in helping to prepare a new edition of the "Echoes from the Questionnaire" which was first published in 1925. Any alumnus who has any information about the alumni is urged to get in touch with Mr. Slingluff or with Dr. Doehler, Secretary of the Executive Committee.

In Newspaper Work

Getting back to some news of a more recent alumnus we hear that Jim Shea, '35, former Sports Editor of the Greyhound, is now employed as a proofreader for the Houston branch of the Daily Racing Form. Good luck, Jim!

Playing Again

Frank Taneyhill and Price Colvin, who graduated last year, are now playing for the Stonewall Democratic Club's basketball team. Frank and Price are former stars of the Loyola quintet, and should be a big help to the politicians.

Next Meeting

Flash! There will be a joint meeting of the Retreat and Executive Committees on Tuesday evening, November 26 (tonight in the Alumni Office at Evergreen).

LOYOLA ALUMNI RETREAT TO BE HELD DECEMBER 6, 7, 8

TO BE GIVEN AT MANRESA

Rev. Robert S. Lloyd, S.J. Will Be Retreat-Master At Annual Exercises

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3) vember 8th, members of the various classes promised to interest members of their classes in the retreat. Members of the classes of the past twenty years are to be contacted by the class secretaries in connection with the retreat.

About thirty members of alumni attended the retreat last year, but this year, the date being more convenient, it is hoped that more alumni will attend.

Closes On Sunday

The retreat will close on Sunday evening, December 8th, with dinner. The alumni hope to have the Rev. Thomas J. Love, S.J., Faculty Representative of the Alumni Association present at the dinner.

Then there is the father of a Gonzaga University student who expounds a bit of matrimonial philosophy, "One should never marry for money, but there is no harm in knowing only rich girls".

LUMINA

In this issue we will inaugurate a plan to run a series of sketches about prominent graduates in connection with Alumni activity. John A. O'Shea, Class of 1924

Mr. John A. O'Shea recently had another duty added to his many and varied activities when he was unanimously elected to the presidency of the Loyola College Alumni Association. Primarily Mr. O'Shea is engaged as secretary and associate counsel of the legal Aid Bureau which extends legal assistance to those unable otherwise to secure it. At present Mr. O'Shea is preparing a bill for submission to the next session of the Legislature which proposes a regulation of Industrial Insurance to prevent forfeiture of policies for non-payment of premiums.

Supplementary to this, Mr. O'Shea advises a number of organizations on questions of social legislation. Some time ago he organized a permanent group for the study of industrial legislation, consisting of doctors interested in occupational diseases, lawyers in the bureau, and many others. It is known as the Maryland Association for Industrial Legislation.

Mr. O'Shea is a native Baltimorean. He attended Loyola High School and Loyola College, graduating from the latter in 1924. Three years later he received his law degree at the University of Maryland and has been active in law practice since that time. He had held his position at the bureau since 1929.

A long time interest in outdoor activities sends him into the country each summer for a long period. In 1934 he made a tour of Europe, visiting Austria, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, England and Ireland. He also hiked through a portion of the Black Forest in southern Germany. Mr. O'Shea plans another trip abroad in the near future.

Last June Mr. O'Shea married Miss Coralie M. Wiegman of Norfolk. After their wedding trip into Canada they spent the remainder of the summer at their country home "Come by Chance" in the Worthington Valley, near Shawan.

A recent notice from the dean's office of Colgate University requested those who had guns in their rooms to register them at his office.

* * *

The new Ethiopian theme song, "Don't let a day go by."

—The Skyscraper

LOYOLA AND NOTRE DAME TO GIVE ONE ACT PLAYS

DANCE TO FOLLOW

"The Sweeps Of '98" To Be Presented At Le Clerc Hall At 8:15 P. M.

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

in quite a few years to bear actual fruit, will be a drama of the Irish Rebellion at the turn of the last century entitled "The Sweeps of '98" by John Masefield. At the time of going to press the title of Notre Dame's play was not known.

Cast

The cast announced for "The Sweeps of '98" is:

Tiger Roche—F. Kennard Dill, '36
Innkeeper—Leo Martin, '37
Fitzpatrick—William O'Donnell, '37

Captain Sandys—Edwin Gehring, '38

Major Sirr—Brady Murphy, '39
Captain of the Troops—Samuel Powers, '39

Notre Dame's auditorium has been placed at the disposal of Loyola for rehearsals.

It is expected that Loyola will show its appreciation for this friendly gesture by turning out in full force for the dramatic presentations and subsequent dance. The curtain will be at 8:15 P. M.

ANNUAL SOPHOMORE FROLIQUE TO BE HELD AT POPULAR CLUB

MUSIC BY GORDON HENZE

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1) rangements for Friday night, December 6, from nine until one, the Dance Committee now sets forth the reasonable charge of one dollar and sixty-five cents per couple and urges everyone to cooperate in making this the most enjoyable of all the Sophomore Froliques.

At Washington College the student council passed a bill, by which "blue books" will be distributed to the students before each test. The bill effective November 5, puts the entire cost for each person at thirty cents a year.

Loyola Students, Off to the Sport!

PLANNET SKATE OUTFIT $4.45

Full grain leather shoe, built-in ankle support, 1-piece steel blades, aluminum tubular frame.

Pay 25c A Week!

HECHT BROS. Baltimore and Pine St.

Telephone: UNIVERSITY 3500

GEO. J. STORCK & SON

LUMBER

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Flooring, Wallboard, etc.
2406-18 GREENMOUNT AVENUE

Frank Dolan, '36, Delivers Lecture To Mendel Club

Lectures on "The Living And Non-Living"—Program Also Announced

Mr. Frank Dolan, '36, presented the first student lecture before the Mendel Club on November 12, on the subject "The Living and Non-living".

His lecture was introduced by the statement: "Either life is something new and different from what has gone before, or it is not." He then gave the primary distinctions of living matter, which he enumerated as difference in structure, self-motion, reproduction and growth, effects of use and regeneration, and sensation. Mr. Dolan treated each topic in detail, and compared the living and non-living under each topic.

He stated that a truly vital action may continue to function long after the life that causes it has ceased. As an instance of this he cited the case wherein the turtle's heart, after being cut out, continues to pulsate for hours, and also the growth of hair and nails long after the death of a human being.

Program Announced

The following program has been announced by Father Joseph S. Didusch, S.J., Moderator of the Mendel Club.

Nov. 26—"Environment and Heredity"Louis J. Upham, '37
Dec. 17—"What Germs are Made Of"Jacques G. Ayd, '37
Jan. 7—"Disease, Its Cause and Prevention"Wm. C. Duffy, '36
Feb. 4—"Infantile Paralysis"George H. Jarboe, '36
Feb. 18—"Toads and Toad Life"Andrew C. Zinkland, '36
Mar. 10—"Paramecium, The Function and Relation of Vacuoles" —F. Howard Kidd, Jr., John B. Wells, '37.
Mar. 24—"Food Poisoning"Louis A. Becker, '36
April 14—"Volvox"Vincent J. Treppe, '36
May 5—"Sensitive Relations in Plants".....Edward J. Monroe, '36

"I hate that chap", said the co-ed as she rubbed cold cream on her lips.—The Villanovan.

Chick's Chatter

A. E. C.

No Complaint Here, I Hope

Since it has now been made known to me, after the publishing of my last column, that I can not print my honest opinions any longer without being denounced from every side, I decided to write on our current Ping-Pong tournament thus keeping on the safe side. The tourney sponsored by the "Recreation" room solon is the second such contest in the past four years. The last one was won by Frank Keech, whose brother, Joe, is a promising Frosh member of the basketball squad. Since then, two half-hearted attempts were made to continue the tourney, but only this year does there seem to be any fair chance of its succeeding.

Ping-Pong is one of those legitimate indoor sports which has recently won a large following in this country. The game which is patterned after tennis, has gained such momentum in the last few years that there have cropped up numerous Table Tennis clubs and leagues throughout the entire nation. Baltimore, not to be outdone, has quite a few of its own. Why not have something akin to that in this school?

In other words, I suggest that Loyola have an interclass Ping-Pong league to be run during the lunch hour. I am sure the "Rec" room will be willing to furnish a prize to the winning team, similar to that being offered in the present tournament. A regular schedule could be arranged for the winter months for any number of teams. A team match composed of four singles and a doubles could be held every day. This will permit six players to a club. I am very much in favor of this; what say we give this a trial, fellows? No other sports event will conflict with this during the winter, for intramural basket-ball games will be played after school—and we have no other sport. In short, it will be a splendid way to spend our time in that period and should meet with a general response from the student body.

A Thriller Is In Store

Before the publication of the next Greyhound, the Loyola tossers will have taken the floor against the Alumni in their first game. This scrap has been booked as the opener for several seasons now, and because of the interesting competition involved in these contests it seems that the game is a fixture as the inaugural battle of the college five. And well it deserves to be preserved in the annals of our basketball history. The Alumni would like nothing better than to take over their younger counterparts, whereas the College Greyhounds always thrill in walloping the "old men", some of whom are former teammates.

The presence of Price Colvin, Frank Taneyhill as well as Vince Carlin and "Chief" Bender will greatly enhance the chances of an Alumni victory, if such a thing is possible.

Every year at this time an appeal is made for student support of the basketball team at the games. That is the most distasteful task I have to perform in the course of this work. For once I intend to forego this and just leave it to your consciences and hope that Loyola men have recovered sufficiently from their former apathy and complacency to put in their appearances at these games. A good crowd is not enough; a capacity crowd might do; but an overflow crowd which would cause the erection of more stands at each end—that is what we want!

One other thing concerning basketball must be said. Bill Liston told me that the captain of the team will be selected before each game. Bill probably has very definite reasons for taking this plan and I hope that he will meet with unmeasured success with it. I, in behalf of the students, wish Bill and his five a most successful season ending up with what they narrowly missed last year, the State title. Go to it, boys.

The Idea Is Good

There is an interesting article which one of the reporters gathered from the "Aquinas" of St. Thomas on the formation of a Catholic Football Conference. To me, it seems that this is a step forward which these school are taking. The smaller Catholic schools in the East will be drawn much closer together by this League not only in football but in other relations as well. The conference will also keep the smaller colleges in their own sphere on the gridiron, an end noteworthy in itself. In addition, the conference will be a boon to deficient college athletic treasuries in that the subsequent rivalries born out of the quest for the loop's championship will lead to heavier gate receipts. To my mind, if it were possible for Loyola to have Varsity football, it couldn't find better company than these teams.

Titular Freshman-Soph Battle Will Be Headliner December 2nd

Two Lower Classes Prepare For Titanic Struggle To Decide Superiority

The football season, as far as the East is concerned, comes to an end on Monday afternoon, December 2, when the undefeated teams of the Sophomore and Freshmen classes meet on the historic sod of Evergreen. Both teams have been primed for this game, and experts declare that picking the winner is a well nigh impossible task. The weight advantage held by the Sophs is offset by the fact that the Frosh have the elimination of Freshman rules as a reward for victory.

Prep School Stars

Both teams possess experienced prep school players. The Freshman backfield, composed of such light, fast men as Smith, Stevenson, Lazzati, Malloy and Kernan, is expected to rely on speed and deception. At the same time, it is expected that the Sophomores will resort to power plays, capitalizing on the weight of their backfield men, particularly Costello, Devlin and Gehring, with the speedy Bremer as a constant triple threat.

Linemen Chosen

The second year men will number among their linemen Dick Carey, J. Bracken, J. Connor and Sehlhorst, while opposing them will be Crimby, E. Bracken, C. Connor, O'Neill, Loden, Brennan and Knott.

A host of untried material will be fighting for positions on both teams and the game will undoubtedly reveal some hitherto unknown talent.

Last year the first game ended in a tie, and the Sophomores then won the playoff tilt, 2-0. Many of the Freshmen participants in those battles will be in the Sophomore lineup this year. The Freshmen have already started practice under the supervision of Mr. Kelley, S.J.

Soph Lineup

A large crowd is expected to witness the most important event of the fall athletic program, for which the probable Sophomore lineup is:

- R.E. J. Bracken

R.T. J. Connor

R.G. Matricciani

C. McGreevy

L.G. Kerger

L.T. Sehlhorst

L.E. Carey

Q.B. Bremer

R.H. Devlin

L.H. Gehring

F.B. Costello
- RESERVES: Buckley, McClure, Reddy, Codd.

To the Sports Editor of the Greyhound:

Dear Editor:
I wish you would please inform the "maternal Freshman" that the sophomores appreciate their anticipation of the traditional football game between the Sophs and Frosh.

As they know by now, the cause for the sophomores' reluctance was a worthy cause, especially as far as the freshman are concerned. For certainly the mothers who complained of hazings would not permit their loving sons to engage in a fierce struggle with the nasty rough sophomores.

And as for your idea, Mr. Editor: to settle the class differences by other than a football game, is a "lousy idea".

The annual football game between the sophomores and the freshman is a traditional affair, and you can bet your typewriter that it won't be the sophomores who break the tradition even if it comes to playing the game in bathing suits.

Yours,
A Sophomore

Dear Sophomore:

I wish that I had seen you write this thing. I can just imagine you sitting in Mr. McCorry's English, creating this veritable masterpiece inspired by the spirit of that ol' Sophomore class, yeah man! It looks very much like you are in a bad mood.

Now, Sophy, old boy, just a word to the wise: many a football player has lost the shirt off his back after a hard game. Have you an idea precisely what that would mean if you played in bathing suits?

Yours,
Chick

PLAN PROPOSED FOR CATHOLIC COLLEGE GRIDIRON CONFERENCE

MT. ST. MARY'S INCLUDED

Recently in the "Aquinas", student publication of St. Thomas College, Scranton, Pa., a very unique plan of forming a football conference among the small Catholic colleges in the local area was presented.

Although the plans are only in embryonic stage, the conference idea appears to be a good one. According to the tentative arrangements, the conference would be composed of such teams as St. Bonaventure's, St. Vincent's, La Salle, St. Joseph's, Canisius, Niagara, Mt. St. Mary's, St. Francis' and St. Thomas'.

Purposes

The primary purpose of the idea is to expedite schedule-making and to reduce expenses. This two-fold purpose should have a powerful appeal to the colleges who have suffered from these very same difficulties in previous years. It is highly improbable that the arrangement, conceived by Frank O'Hara, graduate manager of athletics at St. Thomas, will be in working order before the 1937 season. Looked at from a utilitarian point of view, the suggestion looks mighty fine; it would

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

VARSITY TO ENGAGE ALUMNI IN OPENING TILT ON DEC. 10

ALUMNI SQUAD IS STRONG

Basketball stars of past Loyola quintets will shine again when a team of Alumni meets the College Varsity in the opening game of the court season, December 10. Varsity Coach Bill Liston expects the game to give him an estimate of how his team shapes up. The contest will also give the undergraduates a chance to see in action the crack players of former teams of whom they have only heard.

Vince Carlin, one of the best all-around athletes to graduate from Evergreen, will play for the Alumni as will Twardowicz, Bender, Helfrich, Lacy and Jack Menton. Two stars of last year's team which lost to Mt. Saint Mary's in the playoffs of the Maryland Intercollegiate League are also representing the Alumni. They are Frank Taneyhill and Price Colvin. The teams will be evenly matched, with youth favoring the Varsity. However, the experience of the veterans might easily prove the deciding factor.

Practicing

The College Quint has been practicing for almost a month and are fast hitting their stride. Each position is being held down by men who played last year with a plentiful supply of reserves on hand. Carney and Wayson are back at their old stations as guards and "Sophomore" Kelly rules the center jump. The probable starting forwards are "Ace" Knight and Ferrarini.

The Alumni are out for revenge because of a 60-27 beating they suffered last year at the hands of the Varsity after they had secured an opening lead.

| | |
|----------------|---------------|
| Alumni | Varsity |
| Carlin, f. | Knight, f. |
| Twardowicz, f. | Ferrarini, f. |
| Taneyhill, c. | Kelly, c. |
| Bender, g. | Carney, g. |
| Colvin, g. | Wayson, g. |

From the Washington "Elm" we gather that the Shoremen were quite put out when the University of Delaware broke their football team's winning streak early this month. This was Washington College's first defeat in over a year's competition since Loyola downed them 7-0 in November, 1933. This was also the Greyhounds' last intercollegiate gridiron contest and was won by Tony Azza-rello's interception of a forward pass and subsequent forty yard run for a touch-down. Loyola's last point was scored by Joe Morisi, All-Maryland guard that year, on a place-kick. Those were the days!

ALBERT J. HENRY JR. '39, DIES AT SAINT JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

BURIED FROM ST. PAUL'S

Freshmen Attend Benediction
And Mass In Chapel For
Repose Of His Soul

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)

On Friday morning, November 22 at 8 o'clock, Fr. Risacher celebrated Mass in the Chapel, and the members of the Freshman Class received Holy Communion for the repose of his soul. The Freshmen will also have five Masses said for his soul at St. Paul's.

On the morning after Albert's death, one of the professors glanced at the roll book and adverted to his excellent record. His work in class was but one field in which he excelled. A good student, pleasant companion and gentleman, Albert's quiet way will be remembered by his class, especially by those who knew him for four years at Loyola High School.

Thompson Poetry Society Holds Monthly Meeting At Notre Dame

Mr. J. C. Kelley, S.J., Mahoney '38 And Henneberry '37
Represent Loyola

The monthly meeting of the Francis Thompson Catholic Poetry Society was held at 3:30 P.M., on Friday, November 8th, at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland. Dr. Francis F. Litz, of Johns Hopkins, delivered an address, entitled: "The Lure of Parnassus". The substance of this talk will appear in a book on poetry which Dr. Litz intends to publish soon. A few poems, presented and composed by the society members, were criticized by those who attended the meeting. Preparations were begun for presentation of papers by the students of Notre Dame at the monthly meeting in December, and by the students of Loyola College in January.

Besides Mr. J. C. Kelly, S.J., other representatives from Loyola were Mr. Henneberry, '37 and Mr. Mahoney, '38.

PLAN PROPOSED FOR CATHOLIC COLLEGE GRIDIRON CONFERENCE

MT. ST. MARY'S INCLUDED

Idea Outlined Especially For Small Schols Should Be Of Concern To Loyola

(Continued from Page 5, Col. 4)

tend to raise the athletic standards of the united Colleges, and the quest of the conference championship would add immeasurably to the rivalry and spirit of the game.

Loyola Concerned

Loyola, without a football team at the present time, could not be vitally concerned with the plan, but such an idea, if reduced to practice, would obviate some of the difficulties which caused the dropping of football in 1934. If Loyola had a team, logically and geographically, we should belong to such a group.

Small boy:—noun: a noise with dirt on it.—Devil's Dictionary.

SODALITY MEETINGS TO FOLLOW THE ORDER OF FORMER YEARS

SHORT PAPER TO BE READ

Prefect Appeals To Interest
Students In St. Vincent
De Paul Activities

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

On Thursday, November 14, Albert Henry, '39, a Loyola Sodalist, died. A committee was appointed to extend an expression of sympathy to his family in behalf of the Sodality. Messrs. Cooper '36, Lazati, '39, Tillman, '39 and Broderick, '39, were chosen for the committee.

TWO STUDENTS CONVALESCING

Tom Bracken, '37, is recovering from a spinal operation performed at West Baltimore General Hospital.

Bud Jung, '38, is on the injured list with a fractured knee sustained while playing football.

We hope their recoveries will be swift and complete.

DR. HUGH S. TAYLOR ADDRESSES CHEMISTS' CLUB ON CATALYSTS

SPOKE HERE LAST YEAR

Speaker Is Director Of The Research Lab At Princeton

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)

use of Fe as a catalytic agent in obtaining ammonia from nitrogen and hydrogen. In 1914 the wheels of the first synthetic ammonia plant turned in Germany, and this was one of the chief factors which enabled Germany to go to war.

In conclusion, Dr. Taylor stated that the modern developments in the use of catalysts are going to a more complex nature, such as the hydrogenation of stearic acid to form a simple alcohol, and the treating of complex hydrocarbon molecules with heavy hydrogen.

History Academy

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

Wright, '36, will speak on "The League of the Three Emperors".

Sun-curing Turkish leaf tobacco. The tobacco is strung leaf by leaf and hung on long racks like you see below.

© 1935,
LIGGETT & MYERS
TOBACCO CO.

The aromatic Turkish tobaccos used in Chesterfield give them a more pleasing aroma and taste...

Every year we import thousands of pounds
from Turkey and Greece

THE IMPORT DUTY alone is 35 cents a pound
—but Turkish tobacco is necessary to a good cigarette.

The right amount of Turkish tobacco, blended with our mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos helps to give Chesterfields more aroma, helps to give them a more pleasing taste.

CHESTERFIELD—A BLEND OF MILD RIPE HOME-GROWN AND AROMATIC TURKISH TOBACCOS